Co-founder And CEO

Livapp, Barcelona, Spain

Co-created a startup with two partners, focusing on a niche in the market to connect musicians with gig venues. Unfortunately, due to problems in development the app was never fully realised after launch. However, the experience of creating a company from the ground up taught me how a business is run, as well as learning best business practices through any mistakes made. As CEO my role included:

- Making a business plan and product development.
- Hiring and managing a team of people.
- Managing company cash flow and financial plans.
- Liaising with clients and partners to create market research and find viable solutions.
